"DOLLY VARDEN,"
The forthcoming production at the Broadway theater on Friday, Aug. 27th of that inspiring and melodious comic opera delight, "Dolly Varden," will not only prove to be one of the record breakers of the season's offerings, as already local theatergoers who are strong advocates of the higher grade of musical entertainment have had their interest aroused over this engagement which will be a double event of importance, being the first performance in this city of this exhilarating work of those modern masters, Messrs. Stanislaus Stange and Julian Edwards, but will likewise serve to introduce on her initial tour of the east, the favorite western prima donna soprano, Miss Adeline Fliden, who comes here with the camp of success in the operatic field of the west and southwest for the past two years. It is generally known and accepted as a fact that "Dolly Varden" was one of New York's most positive and lasting musical successes of recent times and the vehicle that attained the popularity of Miss Lulu Glaser.

THE AUDITORIUM.
Monday, August 30th, is the date set for the reopening of the Auditorium, Norwich's most popular playhouse. This dainty little theater has been closed for the past seven weeks during which time the entire building has been completely renovated and redecorated. The policy of the theater will remain the same, to present the latest season with several additions among which will be the illustrated songs which were dropped last season but owing to repeated inquiries have been replaced. The usual number of vaudeville acts will be given with the songs as an extra feature. The management has been fortunate in securing the services of Miss Jennie Edwards, the popular New York song illustrators, who is professionally known as "The Little Lady with the Big Voice," and who will no doubt establish herself a firm favorite among Norwich theatergoers.

The pictures for the coming season promise to be a big feature of the bill, as the management has gone to considerable trouble and expense to secure the latest and best of machines on the market, a special set of lenses were made to order which give the pictures the best possible results. The pictures themselves will be of the very latest and will be shown here the first time in this city. The objects will be carefully selected and nothing that could possibly offend the most fastidious person will be thrown upon the curtain.

Owing to the increased expense of the bill and last season's popular demand for reserved seats the management has decided to reserve about one-fourth of its seating capacity at twenty cents, the balance of the house will remain the same as last season. Matinees there will be no charge for the ten cents admitting to all parts of the house.

The big vaudeville section of the program headed by the Grand Wally Trio contains many novel features of which more will be said later.

BREED THEATER.
"Driven from Home," Sensational Feature Picture.
At the Breed theater today will be shown one of the longest bills of feature pictures ever shown here. It will include two feature pictures, each one, and two more nearly 900 feet long. The very excellent feature picture, entitled "Driven from Home," is the story of a rich merchant's daughter, who is in love with one of her father's clerks. There is naturally much opposition, and she is finally driven from home, having chosen the clerk in her father's store. A rival lover follows the pair and commits many offenses, but the blame on the young, innocent husband, but the many wrongs are righted in due time, and the young couple are reinstated in the grace of the father.

Another interesting film is entitled "Soldiers of the U. S. A." and is as educational as it is a feature, while the biograph favorites appear in the great story of the temporal deeds that bear spiritual reward, entitled "The Countess of Monte Cristo." This is an extremely beautiful pastoral picture, and many scenes cannot fail to delight the many patrons of the Breed.

Manager McNulty has received numerous requests for Harry Noonan to sing "As Long as the World Rolls On," he has arranged for the little favorite to do so for the latter half of the week. This is one of his star numbers, and he will be welcomed in this artistic number.

LINCOLN PARK.
Tonight Lincoln park is to be another night of the season's success, rocket night last week got out an equally large crowd and tonight there is every reason to believe that the people will be filled with people going down to see the display.

The first piece will be sent up promptly at 8 o'clock, just about as the 745 car from Norwich, the favorite car with the people from the Rustic theater will be started at that time, the way it always is. It is believed that a large percentage of the park's patrons will be satisfied by the innovation of having the fireworks precede the show. The 10:05 arrangement that obtained for a couple of weeks made the thing a bit late. Lots of people like to take the 8:50 car for the city and land on the square at 10:10.

The show this week is all right. Everybody likes it. Hamilton and Howlett in "Reuben Harkins" are able makers and very versatile musicians. Miss Elmer's singing rightly goes to the right spot. Billy Barlow and Lillian Franklin in "Bills from Here and There" are decidedly amusing.

ing and Billy's local hits, though one or two of them are of the solar plexus order, have not yet gained their author a kicking. The ventriloquist, Nat Gill, has four dummies and he makes every man Jack and woman Sally of the four hand out bright sayings and pretty songs to the crowd. The dancing pair, Strik and London, continue to get loud handclapping by their jumps and handstands while their fancy bicycle riding at the outset of their act is nothing to be sneezed at. Sunday concert at 4:30. No charge this day for the statue, the red, or bench. The concert will last a little more than an hour.

PERSONS TALKED ABOUT
A play by former Prime Minister Clemenceau is to be produced in Paris in the autumn.

Miss Effie N. Chambers is the head of the girls' high school at Kansas, which is said to have been destroyed by Moslems.

Attorney General Wickham is the Spanish scholar of President Taft's cabinet. He reads in the original the works of Cervantes, Lope de Vega, Calderon, Valera and Galdos.

Mr. Clemenceau has spent a good part of his life in journalism, so that there is nothing mysterious to explain in the fact that he had offers from five important Paris journals within 48 hours after his fall as premier.

The first Indian girl to study medicine is Dr. Susan La Flesche Picotte of Wash. D.C. She was graduated both from the Hampton (Va.) and from the Woman's Medical college in Philadelphia with the highest honors.

Mrs. Surcouf, wife of the distinguished aeronautical engineer, is one of the best known aeronauts in France. She has a long list of acceptances for her credit and has traveled many hundreds of miles in the air in all sorts of weather.

Prof. Benjamin Rinaldi publishes an interesting statistical study of elementary education in Italy. School teachers are the worst paid public servants in Italy. Their pay averages from $1.50 cents a day.

Mrs. Isaac L. Rice, having returned home, is full of new ideas for the New York Anti-Noise society, of which she is the president. The international anti-noise society had a very interesting session in this city this summer and Mrs. Rice was there to learn.

At the unveiling of the monument erected by the people of Norwich, which, aided by the state of Michigan, to General Custer, the equestrian horse, whose removal is second only to Sheridan at Monroe in June, 1910, President Taft has consented to give the memorial speech and will Carleton the poem.

Francis Eck, better known as "Jack" Eck, in the trusted engineer of the "Queen of the Valley," the Reading flyer between Allentown and Jersey City. He has retired and holds the record for fast running, having piloted his train from Easton to Jersey City on January 21, 1906, a distance of 22 miles, in 66 minutes, making up 19 minutes of lost time.

W. S. Fielding, Canadian minister of finance, raises and spends a hundred million dollars a year on a $7,000 salary, which is as low a commission as can be got anywhere. Mr. Fielding is the only prominent member of the old school of finance in Canada. Sir Wilfred Laurier in 1894, having held his position twelve years.

H. R. Cooley of Cleveland has been appointed director of public safety by Mayor Johnson. He will have under him 1,653 city employees, including those in the police and fire departments. He has announced that as to the management of these two departments he will not interfere with the work of their present chiefs.

Sir Theodore Martin, an interesting figure in English letters throughout the Victorian period, has died in London, a month short of 93 years, for he was born in Edinburgh, September 16, 1816. His business life was that of a parliamentary agent—that is, employed in securing the passage of private bills in short, a lobbyist of a high class.

James Martineau, the "farmer orator" of New Jersey, has run as a democratic candidate for almost every office in the state, from United States senator to councilman, and has never once been elected, announces that he is once more ready to place himself at the disposal of his party. This time it is the governorship that Martineau aspires to.

Mrs. Asquith, wife of the British prime minister, has long been one of King Edward's literary advisers. Her majesty came back from Marlborough house after taking part in the procession at the first jubilee, he sat down and wrote a line to the then Marquis of Blandford to thank her for her recommendation of some amusing new book.

Gubernatorial Vetoes.
A unique record in the career of Governor Weeks is that all of his vetoes have been sustained. In the administration of Governor Woodruff many a veto was voted down. And it was not until the fact which led the late Governor Lull to say in his inaugural address: "The veto power of the governor of this commonwealth is an anomaly, as the governor's veto can be overridden by a majority vote. It is only a privilege to express his opinion and has little force." Mr. Lull's veto of the bill to amend the act of 1913, which required a two-thirds vote in order to defeat the power of veto.

Explaining the workings of the veto, the governor said: "The constitution requires that after a measure has been vetoed it shall be reconsidered. The act of reconsidering brings it back in an unpassed condition. It is the same as before it did pass—waiting to be acted upon. It must be passed to amount to anything more than a piece of paper. If the branch of the general assembly which first acted on it does not then reconsider and pass the governor's veto, it is as dead as a stone. There is no necessity for it to be acted on by the other branch. Talk of a veto that 'stands nor falls' is the talk of the impossible. If both branches do it, it is a law."

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.
When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.
Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating and do not do earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and so far, only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpelidol—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It always itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send for stamps for sample to The Herpelidol Co., Detroit, Mich.

FOETRY.
A VISION IN SEPTEMBER.
Today, as by a magic wand,
A breeze is wafted from the years
Of long ago and from beyond
The cliff where it disappears.
On far horizons softly lean
The hills against the coming night,
And mantled with a russet green
The orchards gather into sight;
As though the apples, high and low,
In ruddy colors deeply spread
From core to rind, the sun melts slow
With gold upreared across the red.
And here and there, with sighs and
Among the hills an echo rings
Remotely as the water falls
And down the mountain softly sings.
A wind goes by; the air is stirred
With secret whispers far and near;
Another token—just a word
Had made the rose's meaning clear.
I see the fields; I catch the scent
Of odors from the fresh split wood,
Where bearded moss and stains are
With autumn rains, and all is good.
An air arising turns and lifts
The fallen leaves where they had lain
Beneath the trees, then weakly shifts
And slowly settles back again.
While with far shouts, now homeward bound,
Across the fields the reapers go,
And with the darkness all around,
The lilies of the twilight bow.
—Lillian Griffith, in Hampton's Magazine.

A BIVOUAC.
I think I have come far enough; and I
Among these fallen fence-rails here
And breathe the clean smell of gray
Stems over me beneath the wide, pure sky.
All's swept in moonlight; while the Shadows creep,
Slow dainty hands that bring no hour of
I shall lie still and hark; and I shall Scarcely any sound save yonder wakeful cheep—
Some straggling bird; and far, far, far away.
In night so far the sky seems much
The railroad's four-times warning of Save only silence, the silence of the dead.
Will a carrot bloom nod round my
quiet bed,
Spice-colored, pale; and each wan
Each mullen-lance and purple-flowering thorn,
Guards well this place for sleep from Here shall I sleep then, all rememberbrance fled,
Forgotten Rancunness, forgotten
Forgotten Wisdom, and forgotten
Fear.
My life is over, and the last sound
in my ear.
The soft clash of the long green leaves
—E. Richardson, in The Atlantic.
